

I was born smarter than most into this world of disarray
I was told to listen to all the dumb shit people say but I dug wisdom from my own well and I never had a moment of doubt
I worded a thesis at six years old that had the world all figured out
It goes

Women - Men
That's two kinds of trouble
Enemies - friends
Just two kinds of trouble

I never walked a single step in nobody else's shoes and I never really talked to people cuz that's time you can't afford to lose Every word somebody spoke was the dumbest I've ever heard
I'll keep stickin' to what I know and tell the truth about the world
It goes

Cops - police
Just two kinds of trouble
Robbers - thieves
Two kinds of trouble
Boats - planes
Just two kinds of trouble
Norwegians - and Danes yeah!
Just two kinds of trouble

That's two kinds of trouble
That's two kinds of trouble
That's two kinds of trouble
Just two kinds of trouble

Some say philosophy! I say great if you're unsure
Just a bunch of circular reasoning bordering on the obscure
Where others merely scratch the surface I can really penetrate
I'll serve up a stew so simple and pure no room for debate
'Cause I know...

Two kinds of trouble
Just two kinds of trouble

Work - play
Two kinds of trouble
Night - day
Two kinds of trouble
One thing - another thing
Two kinds of trouble
Anything and everything
Two kinds of trouble
